THE PARNIN GROUP

Broad and deep subject-matter expertise for assessing a range of specific issues.

Agile solutions for incremental, quick wins clients can implement right away.

Sustainable results based on realistic, tailored solutions that are implementable for the long term.

Improving Organizational Productivity

- ▶ We understand and address the root causes of your challenges: very large programs; leadership complexities; funding; customer and user experience issues; staffing; workforce engagement, satisfaction, and productivity.
- ▶ Throughout our process—program assessment and road map development and implementation—we develop the institutional knowledge to understand these root causes and use data-driven insights to develop recommendations.
- ▶ We refine recommendations iteratively in close coordination with you, delivering solutions that are appropriately scaled, manageable, and impactful.

Past Performance

Organizational Transformation

The Parnin Group brings considerable expertise and experience in improving organizational performance and supporting agencies with their transformation and change management. Our assessments have included analysis of an agency's mission and strategic plan, financial and budget plans, leadership capacity, organizational design, operating model, technology state, human capital strategy, employee and customer experience. Our expertise in human capital strategy and management includes all aspects of the talent management lifecycle, including employee engagement and experience, and culture.

Program Operations & Performance

TPG brings extensive knowledge and experience with improving program operations and performance. We have supported several agencies in reviewing policies, statutory, regulatory or licensing authorities, funding implications, and evaluating how they align with the overall program strategy and operations. In addition to evaluation, our team has experience in supporting development of policies and regulations, engaging stakeholders to obtain feedback and providing recommendations to ensure programs are aligned with strategic and external environmental factors.

Digital Services

The Parnin Group's experience in digital services is centered on enabling organizations to use technology effectively to become more user-centric and use design thinking principles to improve customer experience and service delivery, including using emerging technologies to improve productivity. Our experience includes user and customer experience, product management, process automation, content strategy, and usability.
